CLEAR SKIES AHEAD FOR POLOKWANE: ATNS CONFIRMS LONG-AWAITED INSTRUMENT FLIGHT PROCEDURE IS NOW OPERATIONAL

Polokwane International Airport welcomes the long-outstanding finalisation of procedures between Air Traffic and Navigation Services (ATNS) and the South African Civil Aviation Authority (CAA). ATNS has confirmed that the Instrument Flight Procedure (IFP) for Runway 05 is now valid and fully operational.

The confirmation marks the resolution of delays in finalising the procedures, which has contributed to flight delays and cancellations during periods of adverse weather over the past few months. The implementation of the IFP represents a significant milestone in enhancing the safety, reliability, and efficiency of air navigation operations at Polokwane International Airport.

Polokwane International Airport sincerely apologises for the inconvenience experienced during this period and extends its appreciation to all airport and airspace users for their patience and understanding.
